

Dana Jones, BSN, RN

Dana Jones initially earned B.S. in Pharmacology from UC Santa Barbara. Returning to the health sciences, he earned a BSN from Samuel Merritt University and completed the RN Residency program at Stanford Healthcare. While working as an RN in an adaptable-acuity surgical unit, Dana also guides the Quality, Practice and Informatics Council. This group develops organizational policy using bedside expertise as part of Stanford's shared governance structure.